RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

June 2024/to date - AIA - *Exploratory research on AI Ageism as a socio-technical issue

PI (Dep. of Humanities, University of L'Aquila) of an exploratory research project that aims at unveiling the ageist biases against older people operating in and surrounding the generative artificial intelligence systems.

June 2024/to date - DIGUT.AQ - *Identities and cultures of L'Aquila tourism between digital platforms and urban spaces

PI (Dep. of Humanities, University of L'Aquila) of a research project funded by University of L'Aquila. It investigates the relationship between digital platforms and tourism in Abruzzo (Italy), considering the sociocultural transformation processes imported by the use of sectoral digital platforms.

January 2024/to date – "For Giulia, [...] burn everything down". Italian online press headlines to the test of Cecchettin femicide

Co-PI (Dep. of Humanities, University of L'Aquila) of a research project analysing the implicit content and narrative frames conveyed by Italian online press headlines on the occasion of the Giulia Cecchettin's high-profile femicide. The goal is to ascertain whether and in what terms news coverage of gender-based violence has changed in the context of a post-feminist media culture.

June 2023/March 2025 - *Internet sui generis. Riproduzione e contrasto della violenza di genere online tra design tecnologico e pratiche d'uso delle piattaforme

Participation in research project funded by Sapienza University of Rome (PI: M. Sciannamblo, Dept. of Communication and Social Research). The research investigates the problem of online gender-based violence, exploring users' perceptions, problematizing the role of platform design, and mapping initiatives to counter it.

December 2021/November 2022 - *Participatory processes and public engagement of local communities [...]in the reconstruction of municipalities affected by the 2016-2017 earthquake.

Research fellowship (Dept. of Communication and Social Research, Sapienza University of Rome) aimed at supporting participatory processes concerning risk management and communication in the areas of Central Italy affected by the last earthquakes. Supervisor: F. Comunello.

September 2020 / July 2021 – 2020 Global Media Monitoring Project

Coordination and implementation of monitoring activities carried out by the Italian unit of Sapienza University of Rome (Responsible: F. Comunello) as part of a global research and advocacy project that reports on women's representation in the media every five years.

June 2020/March 2022– “Woman hacking, peril thriving”. ICTs-related sexist (self)stereotypes among young and older people

Participation in the research project funded by Sapienza University of Rome (Scientific Coordinator: F. Comunello). The research explores, compares and ‘unpack’ ICT-related gender (self-)stereotypes of young and older people, in order to account for their original matrix.

June 2020/May 2021- Teen climate activism and social media: an exploratory survey on the #FridaysForFuture movement in Italy

Research grant (Dept. of Communication and Social Research, Sapienza University of Rome). The research explores the technopolitical usage of social media by FridaysForFuture activists and their social representations on climate change. Supervisor: F. Comunello. The activities were financed by the Fund for Early Research Projects (type 2) of Sapienza University of Rome, through the project entitled "Change has come. Teen climate activism and social media usages by the Italian FridaysForFuture activists".

June 2018/October 2019– Social media usages, sexist (self)stereotypes and attitudes towards gender violence: an exploratory study among Italian young people

Research Fellowship (Dept. of Humanities, LUMSA University). The research explores whether and how Italian young people perceive violent behavior within intimate relationships managed on social media ('digital dating abuse'). Supervisor: C. Corradi.

The research grant was funded by the LUMSA University as part of the activities of the European project “Lights4Violence” (funded by the European Commission Directorate- General for Justice and Consumer Rights, Programme for Equality and Citizens' Violence against Women 2016; grant agreement no. 776905). In this context, I also participated in the European research (survey) and intervention (training and audiovisual production) activities with secondary school students, aimed at promoting protective factors against teen dating violence. I was also the project’s communication manager, responsible for the newsletter and social media activities.

May 2018/July 2019 - Ageism and social media through the lens of media ideologies: an exploratory survey

Participation in the research project funded by LUMSA University (Scientific Coordinator: F. Comunello), within the COST Action ISCH IS1402 on “Ageism - a multi-national, interdisciplinary perspective”. The project investigates the generational use of social media and the interaction between age-related stereotypes and digital media practices.

May 2017/December 2019 - Femicide and/in Social Media. The #NiUnaMenos case study

Principal investigator of a self-funded project conducted together with F. Comunello and C. Corradi (LUMSA University, Rome, Italy). Through the analysis of Twitter conversations containing the hashtag #NiUnaMenos, the research explores the grassroots capacity for political convocation and mobilization of femicide and the technopolitical usage of social media in Argentina.

April 2016/October 2017 - The indigenous peoples’ media dealing with the Law on Audiovisual Communication Services: experiences, contradictions, challenges.

Postdoctoral research funded by CONICET (Consejo Nacional de Investigaciones Científicas y Técnicas, Argentina) and carried out at the National University of Quilmes (Argentina) as Principal investigator (Supervisor: M. Becerra). The research accounts for the decolonial work carried out by indigenous communities in Argentina through/in their radio and television stations, under the application of Law 26.522 on Audiovisual Communication Services.

March/September 2015 - Community communication in Misiones (Argentina) under Law

26.522 on Audiovisual Communication Services.

Post-doctoral research funded by AMIDILA (Academic Mobility for Inclusive Development in Latin America - Erasmus Mundus Action 2) and carried out at the National University of Misiones (Argentina) as Principal Investigator (Supervisor: D. Baranger). The project aims to characterize community media and evaluate the implementation of Argentine Law 26.522 on audiovisual communication services in the province of Misiones (Argentina), focusing on the experiences of grassroots organizations, schools and indigenous communities.

2014 - Interactions with and through mobile phone among the elders

Participation in the self-funded project coordinated by F. Comunello, (LUMSA University, Rome), S. Mulargia (Sapienza, University of Rome) and M. Fernández-Ardèvol (IN3-Universitat Oberta de Catalonia). It provides a comparative analysis of mobile phone usage practices in the daily lives of Italian elderly people.

March 2013/ November 2015 - Sustainable Water Management in the Mediterranean.

Participation in the project submitted under the first call of the ENPI CBCMED (2007 - 2013) and funded by the EU. SWMed promotes policies to meet water, and sanitation needs in Mediterranean countries by reducing water abstraction and improving the quality of water bodies receiving wastewater. Scientific Coordinator: G. Anzera.

2012 - *Nautilus 2. Towards the socio-economic integration

Collaboration in the project funded by ERF 2010 - Action 1.2.A. Nautilus 2 improves the Italian asylum system by strengthening counselling, information and cultural mediation activities. Scientific Coordinator: M. Morcellini.

November 2010 / October 2013 - Il bene comune tra scienza e senso comune. Linguaggi, concezioni ed esperienze

Doctoral research project (Supervisors: M. S. Agnoli, P. Marsocci, M. Morcellini, Dept. of Communication and Social Research, Sapienza University of Rome). Literature review on the concept of “common good” and “commons” the fields of Law, Economics, Politics and Communication Sciences; proposal of an explanatory definition of the concept; survey-based research investigating the common sense about the concept by exploring the motivations, opinions and communicative practices of the Roman citizens who voted against the privatization of the national water service in 2011 (the “Acqua Bene Comune” referendum).
